COM(2011) 890/3

Proposal for a

REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

amending the Staff Regulations of Officials and the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. CONTEXT OF THE PROPOSAL

The Staff Regulations constitute the legal framework for employment and working conditions for the approximately 55 000 officials and other agents employed by more than fifty institutions and agencies located in different places of employment in the European Union and in third countries.

Given the historic challenges the EU is facing today, the quality, commitment, independence and loyalty of its staff are more important than ever. At the same time, these challenges require a particular effort by each and every public administration and each and every member of its staff to improve efficiency and to adjust to the changing economic and social context in Europe.

Recent events in the global economy as well as the subsequent need to consolidate public finances cannot fail to have an impact on the European civil service and the administrations of all EU institutions, bodies and agencies. Administrative expenditure of the EU is a mere 5.8% of the multi-annual financial framework for 2007 – 2013 which itself represents around 1% of the EU's GDP. Nevertheless, it is important to demonstrate that all EU institutions and their staff continue their drive for efficiency and economy and to reflect the fiscal constraints which many public administrations in Europe experience.

Given that the EU and its institutions face great challenges, the proposal must strike a balance between the necessary drive for further efficiency and economies and the ability of the institutions to carry out their policies. This includes the needs of EU institutions as employers to attract and retain staff of the highest professional competence in various fields of expertise. The institutions recruit on a market for highly qualified persons who are able to work in a multicultural and multilingual environment and who are ready to move and stay abroad with their families. In the light of upcoming retirements in EU institutions, which will mainly affect staff from the 15 Member States of the Union before 2004, it will be a particular challenge to maintain the geographical balance of all Member States among staff. Given the demographic changes in Europe, attracting and retaining excellent staff from all Member States will be even more difficult in the future.

The proposal has to be seen in the context of the major reform of the Staff Regulations which entered into force on 1 May 2004. This reform overhauled the entire European civil service law and brought significant changes to all areas of the European civil service. The entire career system was revised. A new category of staff, contract agents, was introduced, with generally lower salaries. The salary grid for officials and temporary agents was revised, by allowing recruitment of staff at lower grades and, consequently, with lower starting salaries. The reform also introduced more flexible and family-friendly working conditions by extending the maximum duration of leave on personal grounds and introducing parental leave.

As regards the pension scheme, the retirement age was increased from 60 to 63 with transitional measures for staff members already in place, the pension accrual rate for newcomers was reduced from 2 % to 1.9 %, and the pension rights acquired after 1

May 2004 are no longer subject to correction coefficients for higher cost of living. The method for keeping the pension scheme in actuarial balance was laid down in Annex XII to the Staff Regulations. Lastly, a new method for adjusting the remuneration and pensions of EU civil servants was adopted.

All these changes taken together have brought significant savings to the EU budget and their annual impact continues to increase: the reform has produced 3 billion Euros of savings so far and will produce another 5 billion Euros of savings until 2020. The Eurostat study on the long-term budgetary implications of pension costs showed that, in the long run, annual savings of the 2004 reform on pension costs, leaving aside the impacts on other areas, will exceed 1 billion Euros.

A method for adjusting salaries and pensions has existed since 1972 and proved to be a helpful tool for avoiding annual discussions on salary adjustments and possible strikes that are linked to such discussions. Through the years the method has been modified on several occasions, for the last time in 2004. Given that the current method expires at the end of 2012, the Commission is now proposing a new method, which reflects the political decisions adopted by Member States as regards the salary adjustments of their civil servants, whilst addressing the shortcomings that have become apparent during and after the discussions on the 2009 annual adjustment. The computation system for the pension contribution rate expires on 30 June 2013, and the Commission is proposing a new system in line with a common actuarial practice.

This proposal also takes account of the Council's conclusions and the requests made in accordance with Article 241 TFEU: on the application of the exception clause for the method, on the pension scheme of EU civil servants, including the early retirement scheme, and the career structure in order to link closer the salary and responsibilities. Moreover, it takes account of the criticism expressed on some outdated elements of the Staff Regulations to the extent that criticism is justified.

The Commission proposal strikes the balance between cost-efficiency and the needs of the institutions in the field of human resource management. The European Commission considers that, if this proposal is adopted, the EU institutions will continue to be assisted by an independent, efficient and modern European civil service that will allow them to fulfil the tasks which they have been entrusted with by the treaties.

2. RESULTS OF CONSULTATIONS WITH THE INTERESTED PARTIES AND IMPACT ASSESSMENTS

This proposal has been discussed with the staff representatives in accordance with the appropriate procedures and takes into account the outcome of those discussions.

Before the adoption, the proposal has been subject to consultations with the Staff Regulations Committee and the Staff Committee of the European Commission.

Collection and use of expertise

There was no need for external expertise.

3. MAIN ELEMENTS OF THE PROPOSAL

Reducing staff by 5%

It is proposed to reduce the staff of each institution and agency by 5%, and this would be done by not replacing a certain number of departures, i.e. those who retire and those whose contracts come to an end. Without prejudice to future decisions of the budgetary authority, the obligation for the institutions and agencies to respect their commitment to reduce the number of staff is to be reflected in Article 6 of the Staff Regulations.

Method for adjusting salaries and pensions

The new method would preserve the principle of parallelism between the evolution of salaries of national officials and that of the EU officials, and would address the shortcomings of the current method:

- The new method would reflect nominal salary changes (instead of real salary changes) in all Member States. In this way the method will precisely follow salary changes in all Member States of the European Union and not only in a limited sample;
- In order to reduce the time lag in an extraordinary situation, the new exception clause would be automatically applied in case two conditions are met: 1) a decrease in the EU's GDP, and 2) the gap between the adjustment value of the remuneration and pensions of EU staff and the change in the EU's GDP exceeds two percentage points. If both conditions are fulfilled, half of the adjustment value would be postponed to the next year. For instance, this clause would have been triggered in 2009.
- The Brussels International Index would be suppressed. The differences in the increase in the cost of living between each place of employment and that of the Member States would be calculated and reflected in correction coefficients. A new joint correction coefficient would be introduced for Belgium and Luxemburg, considering these Member States as a single place of employment. It will be fixed at 100 for the first year.

As is the case for the current method, the proposed method is not an indexation based on inflation, as it simply follows the evolution of the purchasing power of national civil servants, as decided by each Member State at the national level.

Solidarity levy

Since 1982, the method has been linked to an additional tax on salaries, due to the effects of the oil crisis. Despite the improvement in the economic situation, this additional tax has not been phased out, but has become a measure linked to the automatic application of the method. It is suggested that, for the duration of the proposed method, the solidarity levy be increased at the rate of 6%.

Modifications to the pension system in order to keep pace with demographic developments

Increasing the normal retirement age to 65 years

Currently, the normal retirement age is 63 years for officials recruited after 1 May 2004. Officials recruited before 1 May 2004 are subject to transitional provisions according to which the retirement age varies from 60 years to 63 years.

It is proposed to increase the normal retirement age for officials recruited as of 1 January 2013 at 65 years. Similar transitional rules as those applied in 2004 would be implemented, i.e. the retirement age of officials recruited before 1 May 2013 would vary from 60 to 65 years.

Furthermore, it will no longer be only on an exceptional basis that the possibility to continue working until 67 years would be granted.

Additional measures would be provided in order to take due account of the acquired pension rights and the obligation to maintain the pension scheme in actuarial balance.

Raising the age for early retirement to 58 years and reducing the number of officials benefiting from early retirement

Currently, the minimum early retirement age is set at 55 years. Under the new proposal, the minimum early retirement age would be set at 58 years. In addition, the maximum number of officials retiring in a given year without a reduction of their pension rights would be fixed at 5 % of the officials in all institutions who retired during the previous year (as opposed to 10% in the current system). This scheme is maintained since it has proven useful for all institutions as a HR management tool in the course of the last enlargement exercise.

Aligning the methodology for calculating the pension contribution rate to international actuarial practice

The computation system for the pension contribution rate expires on 30 June 2013. It is proposed to keep the same methodology, but to increase the moving average for interest rates and salary growth to 30 years. A transitional period of eight years would apply.

As a result of this amendment, the pension contribution rate would become more stable and less sensitive to short-term variations in the interest rates, and thus less subject to debates. It would put the computation system in line with common actuarial practice, suggesting that past observations ranging between 20 and 40 years be used for ensuring the balance of pension schemes.

Adapting the conditions of employment

Introducing a minimum number of weekly working hours

The 5 % staff cut would require that every staff member take a share of the additional work burden, if the same policy objectives are to be achieved.

It is therefore proposed to introduce in the Staff Regulations a minimum number of working hours per week, i.e. 40.

Maintaining flexitime working-time arrangements

Flexible working-time arrangements allow reconciling work and private life and facilitate suitable gender balance within the Institutions while respecting the mandatory working time obligations. It is therefore appropriate to introduce a clear reference to these arrangements in the Staff Regulations. Managers would not be subject to these general arrangements for staff, as managers are empowered by the institutions to manage time of their staff and their own time.

Allowances and entitlements: reducing the annual travelling time, the annual travelling allowance and adaptation of the rules on the reimbursement of removal costs and on missions

Staff members are currently entitled to a maximum of six days per year of travelling time to their place of origin. It is proposed to limit the annual travelling time to a maximum of three days.

The annual travel allowance is based on kilometric distance by railway, which is often not the most habitual route to travel to the place of origin. Therefore, the distance would be calculated as a great circle distance, which would have an effect of decreasing individual allowances. Furthermore, the payment of annual travel expenses would be limited to territories of the Member States of the EU.

In order to reduce the administrative burden both for the staff members concerned and the administration, the rules on the reimbursement of removal costs should be simplified. It is therefore proposed to introduce cost ceilings which take account of the official's or agent's family situation and of the average cost of removal and associated insurance.

The rules on mission should be adapted in order to take account of the specific need of an institution whose staff members must frequently go on mission to the principal places of work of their institution. It is proposed to allow in such cases the reimbursement of accommodation costs on the basis of a flat-rate sum.

Transparency measures for Institutions and agencies

The Staff Regulations are implemented through a series of measures adopted by the Institutions and agencies. In order to ensure coherent and harmonised implementation of the Staff Regulations and for reasons of simplification, the Commission implementing rules would apply by analogy to agencies.

However, in order to take account of the specific situation of agencies, they will be able, after receiving an authorisation from the Commission, either to adopt different implementing rules or to decide, where appropriate, not to apply any implementing rules.

For the sake of transparency, the Court of Justice would establish a register containing the implementing rules of all the institutions.

Career of assistants, new career stream for secretaries and more flexibility in recruiting contract staff

Reserving the highest grades for staff with the high level of responsibilities

In order to establish a clear link between responsibilities and grade, the career stream in the assistants' function group would be restructured in such a way to reserve the two highest grades (AST 10 and 11) only for officials and temporary agents who exercise significant responsibilities for staff management, budget implementation and/or coordination.

New function group "AST/SC" for secretaries and clerical staff

In the current domains of AST staff, career structures need to be adjusted further to different levels of responsibility, so as to establish a suitably nuanced spectrum of career streams in the European civil service and to limit administrative expenses, as envisaged in the multi-annual financial framework. To this end, a new function group "AST/SC" for secretarial and clerical staff should be introduced. Salaries and promotion rates proposed for this new function group establish a suitable correspondence between the level of responsibility and the level of remuneration. In this way it will be possible to preserve a stable, comprehensive and well-balanced European civil service, as considered necessary by many institutions.

Recruitment of contract staff

In order to give more flexibility to the institutions, the maximum length of contracts for auxiliary contract staff would be extended from 3 to 6 years.

In addition, while the vast majority of officials will continue to be recruited on the basis of open competitions, the institutions would be authorised to organise internal competitions which are also open to contract staff.

Addressing unjustified geographical imbalances

The Staff Regulations stipulate that European Union officials are to be recruited on the broadest possible geographical basis. However, the statistical data show that, while some nationalities are overrepresented in comparison with the relative weight of their population in the European Union, others are largely under-represented. These imbalances are particularly noticeable in certain grades.

Therefore, Article 27 of the Staff Regulations should be amended in order to allow the institutions to take measures correcting long lasting and significant geographical imbalances, while preserving the principle of recruitment based upon the highest standard of ability, efficiency and integrity. This measure shall be adopted by way of general implementing measures and shall be subject to a report after five years.

Increasing efficiency in staff management for the agencies

European agencies have become an important part of the institutional landscape of the European Union. Today there are 45 structures (32 regulatory agencies, 7 joint undertakings and 6 executive agencies). In total, they employ almost 8 000 members of staff, mostly engaged as temporary agents. However, the provisions of the Staff Regulations and the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants are not fully adapted to the needs of small structures such as agencies.

For this reason the Commission suggests introducing a new category of temporary staff for agencies. They would be recruited following a transparent and objective selection procedure and could be engaged for an indefinite period of time. If necessary, agencies would be able to second them in the interests of the service. Also, temporary staff in agencies could take unpaid leave up to a maximum of 15 years throughout their entire career. The mobility within the agency and between the agencies would be facilitated, because grade and step would be maintained in case they decide to apply for a new post, provided that the range of grades for the new posts includes their grade.

Agencies would have a certain flexibility when setting up a series of committees that shape the social dialogue or must be consulted before a decision is taken.

4. BUDGETARY IMPLICATIONS

The proposal would have a budgetary impact on the expenditure and revenue of the European Union. Due to transitional provisions, the financial impact of certain provisions would gradually increase and would reach its full effect only in the long term. The savings over the next multiannual financial framework are estimated to exceed 1 billion Euros. In the long run, the savings from the proposed amendments would be 1 billion Euros per year. More details are provided in the financial statement, which is annexed to this proposal.

Proposal for a

REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL
amending the Staff Regulations of Officials and the Conditions of Employment of Other
Servants of the European Union

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 336 thereof,

Having regard to the Protocol on the Privileges and Immunities of the European Union, and in particular Article 12 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission, submitted following consultation with the Staff Regulations Committee,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national Parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the Court of Justice,

Having regard to the opinion of the Court of Auditors,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) The European Union and its more than 50 institutions and agencies should be equipped with a high-quality European public administration, so as to enable it to perform its tasks to the highest possible standard in accordance with the Treaties and to meet the challenges, both internal and external, that it will face in the future.
- (2) Consequently, it is necessary to provide a framework for the recruitment of high calibre staff in terms of productivity and integrity, drawn on the widest possible geographical basis from among citizens of the Member States, and to enable such staff to carry out their duties as effectively and efficiently as possible.
- (3) A broader aim should be to optimise the management of human resources in a European civil service characterised by competence, independence, loyalty, impartiality and stability, as well as by cultural and linguistic diversity.
- (4) In the interest of guaranteeing that the purchasing power of European Union officials and other servants develop in parallel with that of national civil servants in central governments of the Member States, it is essential to preserve the principle of a multi-annual mechanism for pay, known as 'the method', by extending its application until the end of 2022 with a review at the end of the fifth year. The discrepancy between the mechanism of the method which has always been administrative in nature and the adoption by the Council alone of the result of the method led to difficulties in the past and is not in line with the Treaty of Lisbon. It is therefore appropriate to let the legislators decide in adopting these amendments to the Staff Regulations upon a method that would update annually all salaries, pensions and allowances in an automatic manner. This update will be based upon the political decisions taken by each Member States for salary adjustment of its civil servants at the national level.

- (5) It is important to ensure the quality of statistical data used for updating remuneration and pensions. In accordance with the principle of impartiality, national statistical offices should collect the data at national level and transmit them to Eurostat.
- (6) The potential advantages for officials and other servants of the European Union of the application of the method should be balanced by the continuation of the system of special levy, to be renamed as 'solidarity levy'. While the rate of the special levy in force during the period from 2004 to 2012 increased gradually over time and averaged at 4.23 %, it seems appropriate in the present circumstances to increase the solidarity levy at the uniform rate of 6%, so as to take account of a difficult economic context and its ramifications for public finances throughout the European Union. Such a solidarity levy should apply to all officials and other servants of the European Union for the same period as the 'method' itself.
- (7) Demographic changes and the changing age structure of the population concerned require that the pension age be increased, subject however to transitional measures for officials and other servant of the European Union already in service. These transitional measures are necessary to respect acquired rights of officials already in service who have contributed to the notional pension fund for European Union officials.
- (8) Since the European Union pension scheme is in actuarial balance and this balance has to be maintained in the short and in the long term, staff employed before 1 January 2013 should be compensated for their pension contribution by transitional measures, such as a higher accrual rate for the years of service after the statutory retirement age (Barcelona incentive) and by applying half of the reduction for early retirement between the age of 60 and the statutory retirement age.
- (9) The commonly accepted actuarial practice requires that a period of past observations between 20 and 40 years be used for interest rates and salary growth with a view to ensuring the balance of pension schemes. The moving averages for interest rates and salary growth should therefore be extended to 30 years with a transitional period of 8 years.
- (10) The Council requested from the Commission a study and the submission of appropriate proposals on Article 5(4), Annex I.A and Article 45(1) of the Staff Regulations with a view to establishing a clear link between responsibilities and grade in the AST function group and in order to ensure a greater emphasis on the level of responsibility when comparing merits in the context of promotion.
- (11) Taking this request into account, it is appropriate that promotion to a higher grade should be made conditional on performing duties whose importance justifies the official's appointment to that higher grade.
- (12) The career stream in the AST function group should be restructured in such a way that the top grades will be reserved for a limited number of officials exercising the highest level of responsibilities with regard to staff management, budget implementation or coordination in this function group.
- (13) With a view to adjusting career structures in the current domains of AST staff even further to different levels of responsibility and as an indispensable contribution to limiting administrative expenses, a new function group "AST/SC" for secretarial and clerical staff should be introduced. Salaries and promotion rates establish a suitable correspondence between the level of responsibility and the level of remuneration. In this way it will be possible to preserve a stable and comprehensive European civil service.

- (14) Working hours applied in the institutions should be aligned to those in force in certain of the Member States of the European Union to compensate for the reduction of staff in the institutions. The introduction of a minimum number of weekly working hours will ensure that the staff employed by the institutions is able to carry out the work-load resulting from the European Union's policy objectives while, at the same time, harmonising working conditions in the institutions, in the interest of solidarity throughout the European Union's civil service.
- (15) Flexible working-time arrangements are an essential element of a modern and efficient public administration allowing for family-friendly working conditions and enabling a suitable gender balance within the institutions. It is therefore necessary to introduce an explicit reference to these arrangements in the Staff Regulations.
- (16) The rules on annual travelling time and annual payment of travel expense between the place of employment and the place of origin should be modernised, rationalised and linked with the expatriate status, in order to make their application simpler and more transparent. In particular, the annual travelling time should be limited to a maximum of three days.
- (17) Likewise, the rules on the reimbursement of removal costs should be simplified, in order to facilitate their application both for the administration and the staff members concerned. To this end, cost ceilings which take account of the official's or agent's family situation and of the average cost of removal and associated insurance should be introduced.
- (18) Some staff members must frequently go on mission to the other principal places of work of their institution. These situations are at present not adequately taken into account in the rules on missions. These rules should therefore be adapted, in order to allow in such cases the reimbursement of accommodation costs on the basis of a flat-rate sum.
- (19) It is appropriate to provide a more flexible framework for the employment of contract staff. The institutions of the European Union should therefore be enabled to engage contract staff for a maximum period of six years in order to perform tasks under the supervision of officials or temporary staff. In addition, while the vast majority of officials will continue to be recruited on the basis of open competitions, the institutions should be authorised to organise internal competitions which are also open to contract staff.
- (20) Transitional arrangements should be provided to enable the new rules and measures to be applied gradually, whilst respecting the acquired rights and legitimate expectations of the staff employed before the entry into force of these amendments to the Staff Regulations.
- (21) In the interest of simplification and of a consistent staff policy, the rules adopted by the Commission to implement the Staff Regulations should apply by analogy to the agencies. However, in order to ensure that the specific situation of agencies may, if necessary, be taken into account, agencies should be entitled to request the Commission's authorisation to adopt implementing rules which derogate from those adopted by the Commission, or not to apply the Commission's rules at all.
- (22) A register of all of the rules adopted to give effect to the Staff Regulations should be set up and administered within the Court of Justice of the European Union. This register, which can be consulted by all institutions and agencies, will allow for transparency and promote a cohesive application of the Staff Regulations.

- (23) In order to harmonise and clarify the rules on the adoption of implementing provisions and having regard to their internal and administrative nature, it is appropriate to confer the relevant decision-making powers on the appointing authority and the authority authorised to conclude contracts.
- (24) Taking into account the high number of temporary staff within agencies and the need to define a consistent staff policy, it is necessary to create a new category of temporary staff and to lay down specific rules for this category.
- (25) In order to achieve the objectives set out in the Staff Regulations, the power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union should be delegated to the Commission notably in respect of certain aspects of working conditions.
- (26) The Commission, when preparing and drawing-up delegated acts, should ensure a simultaneous, timely and appropriate transmission of relevant documents to the European Parliament and Council,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

2. Without prejudice to the principle of promotion based on merit as laid down in Article 45, this plan shall ensure that for each institution, the number of vacant positions at every grade of the establishment plan on 1 January of each year corresponds to the number of officials in the lower grade in active employment on 1 January of the preceding year, multiplied by the rates laid down in Annex I, Section B, for that grade. These rates shall be applied on a five-year average basis as from 1 January 2013.

No posts shall be reserved for nationals of any specific Member State.

The principle of the equality of Union's citizens shall allow each institution to adopt corrective measures following the observation of a long lasting and significant imbalance between nationalities among officials which is not justified by objective criteria. These corrective measures shall never result in recruitment criteria other than those based on merit. Before such corrective measures are adopted, the appointing authority of the institution concerned shall adopt general provisions for giving effect to this paragraph in accordance with Article 110.

After a five-year period starting on 1 January 2013, the Commission shall report to the European Parliament and to the Council on the implementation of the preceding paragraph.';

  - (b) In the first sentence of paragraph 2, the words 'Article 55 of the Treaty on European Union' shall be replaced by 'Article 55(1) of the Treaty on European Union';

'Annex XI

Rules for implementing Articles 64 and 65 of the Staff Regulations

CHAPTER 1

ANNUAL UPDATE OF REMUNERATION PROVIDED FOR IN ARTICLE 65(1) OF THE STAFF REGULATIONS

SECTION 1

FACTORS DETERMINING ANNUAL UPDATES

Article 1

1. Report from the Statistical Office of the European Union (Eurostat)

For the purposes of the update provided for in Article 65(1) of the Staff Regulations, Eurostat shall draw up every year before the end of October a report on the nominal changes of salaries in national civil services in central government and changes in the cost of living in Member States.

2. European Index of Consumer Prices

- (a) Eurostat shall use the European Index of Consumer Prices to measure changes in the cost of living in the European Union.
- (b) This index shall take into account the changes between June of the previous year and June of the current year.

3. Changes in the cost of living in Member States

- (a) Eurostat shall draw up the economic parities to establish the equivalence of purchasing power for salaries and pensions of officials. The economic parities shall refer to the month of June each year.
- (b) On 1 January 2013 the economic parity for each country or place of employment shall be the purchasing power parity as established by Eurostat on 1 July 2012 for salaries and pensions. Every year the economic parity shall be updated by the ratio between the inflation in the corresponding country and the European Index of Consumer Prices.
- (c) However, one joint economic parity shall be calculated for Belgium and Luxembourg. For this purpose, the inflation in those countries shall be weighted according to the distribution of the staff serving in those countries. On 1 January 2013 the purchasing power parity for Belgium and Luxembourg shall be 1.
- (d) The economic parities shall be calculated in such a way that each basic component can be updated twice per year.
- (e) Before 1 July 2017 the Commission shall, on the basis of data collected by Eurostat, submit a report to the European Parliament and the Council on the cost of living for European Union officials in the places of employment not referred to in point (c).

4. Changes in the remuneration of national civil servants in central government

- (a) Eurostat shall, on the basis of information supplied before the end of August by the national statistical offices, calculate salary indicators for each of the Member States reflecting either upward or downward changes in the nominal remuneration of civil servants in central government, between the month of July of the previous year and the month of July of the current year. The two should include one twelfth of all annually-paid elements.

The salary indicators shall take two forms:

- (i) one indicator for each of the function groups as defined by Eurostat,
- (ii) an average indicator weighted to reflect the number of national civil servants corresponding to each function group.

To establish the global salary indicator for the European Union total, the results per country shall be weighted in proportion to its national GDP measured using purchasing power parities as shown in the most recent statistics published in accordance with the national accounts definitions in the European System of Accounts currently in force.

Each of these indicators shall be established in nominal gross terms. Eurostat shall establish a definition of gross remuneration for each of the reference Member States after consulting their statistical offices.

- (b) At the request of Eurostat, the national statistical offices shall supply it with the additional information which it considers necessary in order to draw up a salary indicator accurately measuring changes in the remuneration of national civil servants.

If, after further consultation of the national statistical offices, Eurostat finds statistical anomalies in the information obtained or finds it impossible to draw up indicators which measure with statistical accuracy the changes in the nominal income of civil servants in a given Member State, it shall report to the Commission and provide it with all the material it needs to make an assessment.

- (c) In addition to the salary indicators, Eurostat shall establish and calculate appropriate control indicators.

The Eurostat report on the salary indicators shall be accompanied by comments on the differences between these indicators and the above-mentioned control indicators.

Article 2

The Commission shall produce a comprehensive report every three years on the recruitment requirements of the institutions and transmit it to the European Parliament and the Council. On the basis of this report the Commission shall, if necessary, present proposals based on all relevant factors to the European Parliament and the Council after consulting the other institutions within the framework of the Staff Regulations.

SECTION 2

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE ANNUAL UPDATE OF REMUNERATION AND PENSIONS

Article 3

1. Under Article 65 of the Staff Regulations, on the basis of the criteria set out in Section 1 of this Annex, the remuneration and pensions shall be updated before the end of each year, with effect from 1 July.

2. The amount of the update shall be the global value of the salary indicators. The update shall be in gross terms as a uniform across-the-board percentage.

3. The amount of the update thus fixed shall be incorporated in the basic salary tables appearing in Article 66 of the Staff Regulations and in Annex XIII to the Staff Regulations and in Articles 20 and 93 of the Conditions of Employment of other servants.

4. For the purposes of applying Regulation (EEC, Euratom, ECSC) No 260/68, the amounts in Article 4 of that Regulation shall be multiplied by a factor composed of:

- (a) the factor resulting from the previous update, and

(b) the factor of update of remuneration referred to in paragraph 2.

5. The correction coefficients shall be determined on the basis of the ratios between the corresponding economic parities referred to in Article 1 of this Annex and the exchange rates specified in Article 63 of the Staff Regulations for the relevant countries. They shall be applicable:

(a) to the salaries of officials of the European Union serving in each of the Member States and in certain other places of employment,

(b) by way of derogation from Article 82(1) of the Staff Regulations, to European Union pensions paid in each of the Member States for the part corresponding to the rights acquired before 1 May 2004. European Union pensions paid for the part corresponding to the rights acquired as of 1 May 2004 shall be subject to the economic parity referred to in point (c) of Article 1(3) of this Annex.

The procedures laid down in Article 8 of this Annex concerning the retrospective application of correction coefficients in places of employment with a high rate of inflation shall apply.

6. The institutions shall make the corresponding positive or negative update to the remuneration and pensions of the officials, former officials and other persons concerned with retroactive effect for the period between the effective date and the date of entry into force of the next update.

If this retroactive update necessitates the recovery of sums overpaid, such recovery may be spread over a period of not more than twelve months from the date of entry into force of the next annual update.

CHAPTER 2

INTERMEDIATE UPDATES OF REMUNERATION AND PENSIONS (ARTICLE 65(2) OF THE STAFF REGULATIONS)

Article 4

1. Intermediate update of remuneration and pensions pursuant to Article 65(2) of the Staff Regulations, taking effect on 1 January, shall be made in the event of a substantial change in the cost of living between June and December (by reference to the sensitivity threshold defined in Article 6 of this Annex).

2. These intermediate updates shall be taken into account in the annual salary update.

Article 5

The change in the cost of living shall be measured by the Harmonised Index of Consumer Prices for the period from June to December of the previous calendar year. However, for Belgium and Luxembourg the change in the cost of living shall be measured by the inflation in those countries weighted as laid down in point (c) of Article 1(3).

Article 6

The sensitivity threshold for the six-month period mentioned in Article 5 of this Annex shall be the percentage corresponding to 5 % for a 12 month period. If the sensitivity threshold is reached or exceeded in a Member State, the remuneration and pensions for all places of employment in that country shall be updated.

Article 7

For the purposes of Article 6 of this Annex, correction coefficients shall be updated to take into account the changes in the cost of living as referred to in Article 5.

CHAPTER 3

DATE ON WHICH A CORRECTION COEFFICIENT COMES INTO EFFECT (PLACES OF EMPLOYMENT WITH A HIGH COST-OF-LIVING INCREASE)

Article 8

1. For places with a high cost-of-living increase, the correction coefficient shall come into effect before 1 January in the case of the intermediate update, or 1 July in the case of the annual update. This is so as to bring the loss in purchasing power into line with what it would be in a place of employment where the change in the cost of living corresponded to the sensitivity threshold.

2. The effective dates for the annual update shall be as follows:

- (a) 16 May for places of employment having an inflation higher than 5 %, and
- (b) 1 May for places of employment having an inflation higher than 10 %.

3. The effective dates for the intermediate update shall be as follows:

- (a) 16 November for places of employment having an inflation higher than 5 %, and
- (b) 1 November for places of employment having an inflation higher than 10 %.

CHAPTER 4

CREATION AND WITHDRAWAL OF CORRECTION COEFFICIENTS (ARTICLE 64 OF THE STAFF REGULATIONS)

Article 9

1. The appropriate authorities of the Member States concerned, the administration of an institution of the European Union or the representatives of officials of the European Union in a given place of employment can request the creation of a correction coefficient specific to that place.

This request should be supported by objective factors revealing an appreciable difference over some years in the cost of living between that place of employment and the capital of the Member State concerned (except for the Netherlands where The Hague is used instead of Amsterdam). If Eurostat confirms that the difference is appreciable (more than 5 %) and sustainable, the Commission shall enact, by means of delegated acts in accordance with Articles 110a and 110b of the Staff Regulations, a correction coefficient for that place.

2. Likewise the Commission shall decide to withdraw the application of a correction coefficient specific to a certain place. In that case the proposal shall be based on one of the following:

- (a) a request by the appropriate authorities of the Member State concerned, the administration of an institution of the European Union or the representatives of officials of the European Union in a given place of employment showing that the cost of living in that place is no longer significantly different (less than 2 %) than that of the capital of the Member State concerned. This convergence should be sustainable and validated by Eurostat,
- (b) the fact that there are no longer any officials and temporary staff of the European Union employed in that place.

3. Eurostat shall establish the purchasing power parity between the place of employment and the capital city of the Member State concerned. The economic parity for the place of employment shall be the product of the purchasing power parity and the correction coefficient applicable to the capital city.

CHAPTER 5

EXCEPTION CLAUSE

Article 10

If there is a decrease in the gross domestic product of the European Union for the current year, forecast by the Commission's directorate-general for economic and financial affairs, and the annual update value exceeds the forecasted change in the gross domestic product of the European Union by two percentage points, the update value, in case it is positive, shall be divided into two equal parts. The Commission shall act by means of delegated acts in accordance with Articles 110a and 110b of the Staff Regulations, according to which the first half of the update value shall come into effect from 1 July of the current year and the second half shall come into effect from 1 July of the following year.

CHAPTER 6

ROLE OF EUROSTAT AND RELATIONS WITH THE STATISTICAL OFFICES OF THE MEMBER STATES

Article 11

It shall be the task of Eurostat to monitor the quality of basic data and statistical methods used to work out the factors taken into account for the update of remuneration. In particular, it shall make any assessments or carry out any studies required for such monitoring.

National statistical offices shall carry out their tasks in accordance with the principle of impartiality and supply Eurostat with all necessary data and explanations.

Article 12

In March each year Eurostat shall convene a working group composed of experts from the statistical offices of the Member States to be known as the ‘Working Group on Article 65 of the Staff Regulations’.

At this meeting, the statistical methodology and its implementation concerning specific and control indicators shall be examined.

The information required to produce a forecast of changes in nominal salaries for the purposes of the update of remuneration shall also be provided, together with the data on working hours in central government departments.

Article 13

At the request of Eurostat, Member States shall inform Eurostat of any factors having a direct or indirect impact on the composition and changes in the remuneration of central government civil servants.
